BURLINGTON, Mass.—Everbridge, the worldwide leader in unified critical communications, today announced it has relocated its Boston office to accommodate the company's rapid growth and strategic plans.

Everbridge's new 35,000 sq. ft. space at 25 Corporate Drive in Burlington, formerly occupied by Acquia, is twice the size of the company's previous location in Lexington, which it moved in to less than 12 months ago. The new office will enable Everbridge to continue its growth, while fostering innovation and providing employees with inviting areas for cross-team collaboration. Additionally, the space will house a dedicated recording studio, customer training area and a bevy of social activities for employees, partners and customers.

"This is an exciting day for Everbridge as we move into a beautiful new space that's tailored to nurture our team's innovative spirit," said Jeff Lortz, VP of Corporate Planning and CIO of Everbridge. "Our commitment to the Boston area has never been stronger and this move will allow us to attract new local talent and give our employees more tools for success. Doubling our size is also a testament to the growing demand from businesses and government for unified critical communications solutions that help them more effectively communicate with the people in their organizations and communities."

Everbridge plans to hire new employees at all levels across sales, engineering, marketing, customer support, product development and more. The company currently has more than 115 employees in Massachusetts and more than 350 globally.
